Instructions for presenters

During the session you will present your paper by a table with a maximum of 6-10 seats; this to support good interaction. At the conference, each session will have 9 projects presented in parallel.

To allow for more than 6-10 people to attend your presentation, each session comprises three rounds of presentations. This means that you will present your paper three times during the same session, but with different audiences. Before the session starts, the participants will select three different presentations to attend.

Prepare your presentation

Since the presentations will be held while sitting together with the audience around a small table, we recommend you to adjust your presentation to this setting. A traditional PowerPoint presentation will probably not work that well. Instead we encourage you to prepare your presentation for close interaction with the audience. If you want to show pictures or PowerPoint slides bring your own laptop and show these on your screen.

Each presentation will have a total of 20 min at its disposal. This includes 10 min for presentation and 10 min for discussions. In order to make the session work all presentations must start and end at the same time, so there will be no room for running overtime.

Note that there is no projector or whiteboard – bring your own laptop or printed material to show pictures, graphs, slides etc.
